H. MEANING OF MATERIAL INFORMATION

Definition

Material Information may be generally defined as any information relating to the business and affairs of the Company, its subsidiaries and other controlled entities that significantly affects, or would reasonably be expected to have a significant effect on, the market price or value of the Company's securities, or that would reasonably be expected to have a significant influence on a reasonable investor's investment decisions concerning such securities ("Material Information"). For the purposes of this Policy, a broad view of Material Information should be taken.

Examples

The following are examples of events or information that may constitute Material Information (for a more detailed list, refer to Appendix A hereto):

- financial results (such as quarterly earnings and revenues; revenue, earnings and EBITDA guidance; significant increases or decreases in near-term earnings prospects; and major asset write-downs);
- changes in corporate structure (such as changes in unit ownership that may affect control);
- changes in capital structure (such as the sale or repurchase of securities; stock splits; and changes in distribution policies);
- changes in business and operations (such as changes to the board of Directors or executive management; significant new products; major labor disputes; and the commencement of material legal proceedings);
- significant acquisitions and dispositions;
- changes in credit arrangements; and
- changes in rating agency decisions; including downgrades.

The examples described above and in Appendix A hereto are not exhaustive and are not a substitute for the Company exercising its own judgment in making materiality determinations.

Impact on the Company of a Development at a Company

An important development at a subsidiary or other controlled entity other than the Company could constitute Material Information at the Company's level.

In the event of the occurrence of such an important development, it is incumbent upon the relevant subsidiary and other controlled entity, and the employees of such subsidiary and other controlled entity who are aware of that development, to immediately advise the Company's Disclosure and Compliance Committee which will assess the appropriate course of action to follow which could include the issuance by the Company of a news release and filing of a material change report.

Guidance and Operational Data

Revenue, earnings and EBITDA guidance, including the confirmation by the Company of outstanding guidance or of analysts' forecasts, should always be treated as being potential Material Information and, therefore, potentially requiring the issuance of a news release prior to any dissemination thereof. Important operational data of the Company's subsidiaries and other controlled entities that are not public companies could potentially constitute Material Information at the Company' level requiring disclosure and should be reviewed carefully.

As any applicable quiet period approaches (refer to Guideline No. 11 – Quiet Periods), one should be extremely careful as to the appropriateness of commenting on financial and operational data and the Company's Disclosure and Compliance Committee should be consulted.

External Developments

If external developments have an effect on the Company, its subsidiaries and other controlled entities that is both material and uncharacteristic of the effect generally experienced by other companies engaged in the same business the Company should consider whether it should issue a news release explaining the particular impact on it.

Materiality Determination

The Disclosure and Compliance Committee, upon the advice of appropriate counsel when necessary, is responsible for determining the materiality of information. In making materiality judgments, it is necessary to take into account a number of factors such as the nature of the information itself, the state of the business and operations of the Company, its subsidiaries and other controlled entities, the volatility of the Company's securities at the relevant time and prevailing market conditions.

I. GUIDELINES

Guideline No. 1 – Principles of Disclosure of Material Information

The Company should adhere to the following basic disclosure principles.

Disclosure Principles

Material Information will be publicly disclosed via news release (distributed through a widely circulated news wire service) forthwith upon the information becoming known to management, or in the case of information previously known, forthwith upon it becoming apparent that the information is material.

No selective disclosure of undisclosed Material Information will be made.

Announcements of an intention to proceed with a transaction or activity should generally be made when a decision has been made to proceed with it by the board of Directors.

Disclosure must include any information the omission of which would make the rest of the disclosure misleading.

Unfavorable Material Information must be disclosed as promptly and completely as favorable information.

Disclosure on the Company's website alone does not constitute adequate disclosure of Material Information.

Disclosure of Material Information must be monitored to determine whether earlier disclosure of Material Information has become misleading as a result of intervening events and whether there is an obligation to update such earlier disclosure.

Quarterly and annual financial results will only be publicly released after board or audit committee approval of the financial statements (as may be required by applicable legal requirements).

Disclosure Delayed

Disclosure may be delayed if the Company's Disclosure and Compliance Committee determines that such disclosure would be unduly detrimental to the Company, in which case the information will be kept confidential temporarily in accordance with applicable securities laws and stock exchange rules. Control and confidentiality procedures in respect of that undisclosed Material Information shall be instituted. Material Information may be kept confidential only in exceptional circumstances.

Monitoring Stock Trading

If deemed advisable by the Company's Disclosure and Compliance Committee, during the period shortly before Material Information is publicly disclosed, market activity in the Company's units will be carefully monitored by the Disclosure and Compliance

Committee. If it appears that the unit price is being impacted (any unusual market activity may mean that news of the matter has been leaked) by information or rumors of the undisclosed Material Information, the Company will consider whether it should take immediate steps to ensure that a full public announcement is made (which may include contacting the relevant exchanges and asking that trading be halted pending the issuance of a news release).

Tipping Prohibition

The trustee's, directors, officers and employees of the Company, its subsidiaries and other controlled entities, and any person in a special relationship with the Company, are prohibited from informing, other than in the necessary course of business, anyone of Material Information concerning the Company, before that Material Information has been generally disclosed (known as "tipping").

For a list of examples of disclosure generally covered by the necessary course of business exception, please refer to Appendix B hereto. The list is not exhaustive and is not a substitute for persons exercising their own judgment in making the determination. Where such determination is unclear the Company's Disclosure and Compliance Committee shall be consulted.

Inadvertent Disclosure of Material Information

Should previously undisclosed Material Information be inadvertently disclosed in a selective forum (for example in an industry conference or in an interview with an analyst), the Company will immediately issue a news release (distributed through a widely circulated news wire service) in order to fully disclose that information and will apply the basic principles, as set out in this Policy, for disclosure of Material Information. In some cases, the Company should consider the possibility of requesting from the relevant exchange(s) a trading halt until public disclosure is made.

Guideline No. 2 – Maintaining Confidentiality

Efforts will be made to limit access to confidential information and undisclosed Material Information to only those who need to know the information. In order to prevent the misuse or inadvertent disclosure of undisclosed Material Information, the procedures set forth below should be observed at all times:

- Documents and files containing undisclosed Material Information should be kept in a safe place with access restricted to individuals who "need to know" that information in the necessary course of business and code names should be used if necessary;
- confidential matters should not be discussed in public places where the discussion may be overheard, such as elevators, hallways, restaurants, airplanes or taxis;
- confidential documents should not be read or displayed in public places and should not be discarded where others can retrieve them;

- Directors, directors, officers and employees of the Company, its subsidiaries and other controlled entities must ensure they maintain the confidentiality of information in their possession both inside and outside of the office;
- unnecessary copying of confidential documents should be avoided and documents containing undisclosed Material Information should be promptly removed from conference rooms and work areas after meetings have concluded;
- access to confidential electronic data should be restricted through the use of passwords, when necessary; and
- Directors, directors, officers and employees of the Company, its subsidiaries and other controlled entities should advise outside parties privy to undisclosed Material Information that they must not divulge such information to anyone else, other than in the necessary course of business; and such outside parties may be required to confirm their commitment to non-disclosure in the form of a confidentiality agreement.

Guideline No. 3 – News Releases

Once a development has been determined to be material by the Company's Disclosure and Compliance Committee, the Company's Disclosure and Compliance Committee will prepare and issue a news release, unless that committee determines that such disclosure should be delayed in accordance with Guideline No. 1.

Approval of News Releases

Prior to the issuance of a news release announcing Material Information, the Company shall obtain the approval of the Disclosure and Compliance Committee of the Company of the content of such news release. The Chief Executive Officer of the Company will be made aware of it and, other than in exceptional circumstances, will receive a copy of the news release for review and approval prior to its issuance. The Board of Directors or Audit Committee of the Company should approve the Company's quarterly and annual earnings news releases prior to their release.

Stock Exchanges Notifications

If the stock exchange(s) upon which securities of the Company are listed is (are) open for trading at the time of a proposed announcement by the Company, prior notice of a news release announcing Material Information must be provided to the market surveillance department to permit a trading halt if deemed necessary by such stock exchange(s). If a news release announcing Material Information is issued outside of trading hours, market surveillance must be notified before the market opens.

News Wire Service and Posting on Website

News releases will be disseminated through a news wired service that provides simultaneous distribution in Canada (except as may otherwise be advised by the Company's legal counsel) and will, to the extent possible, be posted on the Company's website. Where it is intended to issue a news release prior to the opening of markets the Company should attempt to issue it no later than 30 minutes prior to the opening of markets.

Guideline No. 4 – Rumors

The Company should not comment, affirmatively or negatively, on rumors, unless otherwise authorized by the Company's Disclosure and Compliance Committee. This also applies to rumors on the Internet.

Designated spokespersons will respond consistently to rumors, saying: "It is our policy not to comment on market rumors or speculation."

If the rumor is true in whole or in part, the Company will consider whether immediately issuing a news release disclosing the relevant Material Information would be appropriate. Should a stock exchange request that the Company make a definitive statement in response to a market rumor that is causing significant volatility in the Company's securities, the Company's Disclosure and Compliance Committee will consider the matter and decide whether to make a policy exception. If Material Information has been leaked and appears to be affecting trading activity in the Company's securities, the Company will consider taking steps to ensure that a full public announcement is made, confirming or denying the information that has leaked. The Disclosure and Compliance Committee should actively monitor stock trading during periods while rumors are known to it.

Guideline No. 5 – Conference Calls and Industry Conferences

Media and analysts conference calls may, except when the Chief Executive Officer or Chief Financial Officer of the Company determines that it is not necessary, be held in connection with quarterly and annual earnings announcements and major corporate developments. If so, access shall be provided simultaneously to all interested parties, some as participants by telephone and others in a listen-only mode by telephone.

Advance Notice

The Company will, provided that there is sufficient time, provide advance notice of a conference call by issuing a news release (distributed through a widely circulated news wire service) announcing the date, time and the subject of the call and providing information on how interested parties may access the call. In addition, the Company may post the information on its website and may send invitations to analysts, institutional investors, the media and others.

Questions and Answers

Where practicable, statements and responses to anticipated questions should be prepared in advance by the Disclosure and Compliance Committee and reviewed by other relevant persons, including legal counsel where necessary.

Review of Presentations

Draft presentations and speaking notes are to be prepared by the Company's Disclosure and Compliance Committee and reviewed by other relevant persons including legal counsel where necessary, in order to ensure that no undisclosed Material Information will be disclosed (or if it is intended to be disclosed that a news release will be issued) and that the appropriate safe harbor notice with respect to forward-looking information is included in the presentation.

On the day of the conference call presentation, in the case where undisclosed Material Information is intended to be disclosed, a news release containing all relevant undisclosed Material Information will be issued prior to such conference call or presentation.

At the beginning of a conference call or presentation at an industry conference, a spokesperson of the Company will provide appropriate cautionary language with respect to any oral forward-looking information and will direct participants to publicly available documents containing a full discussion of the relevant risk factors.

Following the conference call or the presentation at the industry conference, the Disclosure and Compliance Committee representative(s) who listened to the call or the presentation should ensure that no selective disclosure of undisclosed Material Information has been made during the call or presentation. If, after consideration by the Company's Disclosure and Compliance Committee, selective disclosure of undisclosed Material information is determined to have been made, all of the necessary steps described herein shall be undertaken to ensure that there is immediate public dissemination of such Material Information.

Guideline No.6 – Contacts with Analysts, Investors and the Media

Disclosure in individual or group meetings with analysts, investors or the media does not constitute adequate disclosure of previously undisclosed Material Information. If the Company, a subsidiary or other controlled entity intends to announce Material Information at such private or group meeting, at a meeting of security holders or at a media conference, the announcement must be preceded by the issuance of a news release.

The Company recognizes that meetings with analysts and significant investors are an important element of its investor relations program. Provided that it complies with this Policy, the Company will meet with analysts and investors on an individual or small group basis as needed and will initiate contact or respond to analyst and investor calls in a timely, consistent and accurate fashion.

The Company's spokespersons will provide only publicly disclosed information or non-Material Information in individual and group meetings. The Company will not provide disclosure in a way that may alter the materiality of information by breaking down the information into smaller, non-material components.

Where practicable, one or several representatives of the Company's Disclosure and Compliance Committee will be present at individual and group meetings with analysts, investors and the media, at meetings of security holders and media conferences.

Such representative(s) shall ensure that no selective disclosure of undisclosed Material Information has been made during such meetings or media conferences. If, after consideration by the Company's Disclosure and Compliance Committee, selective disclosure of undisclosed Material Information is determined to have been made, all of the necessary steps described herein shall be undertaken to ensure that there is immediate public dissemination of such information.

The Company, its subsidiaries and other controlled entities will not provide information on upcoming material events or announcements to a media representative on an exclusive basis and will not offer to give a media representative details of the event even if the media representative offers to hold the story until the day that the Company makes the full public announcement.

The Company will not discriminate among legitimate requests for legally disclosable information. For example, the Company will respond to requests from individuals or small investors in the same manner as they will respond to requests for information from a large investor, an analyst or the media. However, any request for undisclosed Material Information will be denied.

Guideline No. 7 – Reviewing Analyst Draft Reports and Models

If requested, the Company may review analysts' draft research reports or models solely for the purpose of correcting factual errors of publicly disclosed information. When an analyst inquires with respect to his/her estimate, the Company may question the analyst about his or her assumptions if the estimate is a significant outlier among the range of estimates or differs in a significant manner from the Company's published earnings guidance.

The Company will limit its comments in responding to such inquiries to publicly disclosed information and non-Material Information.

The Company will not confirm, or attempt to influence, an analyst's opinions or conclusions and will not express comfort with the analyst's model and earnings estimates.

The Company should provide its comments orally. However, if comments are provided in writing, they should include a written disclaimer indicating that the report was reviewed only for factual accuracy of publicly disclosed information about the Company.

Guideline No. 8 – Distributing Analyst Reports

Analyst reports are proprietary products of the analyst's firm. Re-circulating a report by an analyst may be viewed as an endorsement by the Company of the report.

Other than in the necessary course of business (i.e. such as during negotiations for a potential acquisition where a portion of the purchase price may be paid with securities of the Company), the Company will not provide analyst reports through any means to persons outside of the Company, including posting such information on its website. If an analyst's report is provided to a person outside of the Company, the person providing such report shall ensure that the recipient of the report is aware that the provision of such report is not an endorsement by the Company of the report.

The Company may provide copies of analyst reports to Directors, directors, officers or employees of the Company, its subsidiaries and other controlled entities upon request.

The Company may post on its website a complete list of all the investment firms and analysts who provide research coverage on the Company, regardless of their recommendations. If provided, such list will not include links to the analysts' or any other third party's e-mail address, websites or publications.

Guideline No. 9 – Forward-Looking Information

Guidance and other forward-looking information ("FLI") may be provided from time to time enable the investment community to better evaluate the Company's prospects. Should the Company elect to disclose FLI in continuous disclosure documents, speeches, conference calls, etc., the following guidelines will be observed:

- Approval of Guidance - To the extent possible, the Board of Directors or Audit Committee of the Company should approve financial guidance proposed to be publicly announced by the Company.
- News Release – The information, if deemed material, will first be broadly disseminated via news release, in accordance with this Policy.
- FLI Statement – In the case of FLI provided in writing, the document in which the FLI is contained will state that it contains FLI. In the case of FLI provided orally, the speech, conference call, etc., will be preceded by a general verbal statement that FLI will be provided.
- Cautionary Language – In the case of FLI provided in writing, the document in which the FLI is contained will identify the risks and uncertainties that may cause actual results to differ materially from those projected in the FLI. In the case of FLI provided orally, the speech, conference call, etc., will be preceded by a verbal statement that the FLI to be provided is subject to risks and uncertainties described in one or more documents filed with the Canadian securities commission.

- Provided as of Specific Date – A statement will also be made verbally (in the case of oral FLI) or included in the document (in the case of written FLI) to the effect that the guidance is only being made as of a specific date.
- Update Disclaimer – FLI provided orally will be preceded by a verbal statement that disclaims the Company's intention or obligation to update or revise the FLI, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise. In the case of FLI provided in writing, this disclaimer will be included in the document containing the FLI. Notwithstanding this disclaimer, should subsequent events prove past FLI to be materially off target, the Company will evaluate whether to issue a news release updating guidance or explaining the reasons for the difference.
- Prior Guidance – The Company's comments following the provision of quarterly or annual guidance will be limited to referring to the prior guidance publicly disclosed but clearly stating that the Company has no duty or intention of updating the guidance.

Forecasts in Offering Documents

If the Company has determined that it will be reporting results materially below or above publicly held expectations, the Company will consider whether it should disclose this information in a news release in order to enable discussion without risk of selective disclosure.

Guideline No. 10 – Managing Expectations

The Company will not confirm, or attempt to influence, an analyst's opinions or conclusions.

If the Company has determined that it will be reporting results materially below or above publicly held expectations, the Company will consider whether it should disclose this information in a news release in order to enable discussion without risk of selective disclosure.

Guideline No. 11 – Quiet Periods

In order to avoid the potential for selective disclosure or the perception or appearance of selective disclosure, the Company will observe a quarterly quiet period during which designated spokespersons will not comment on the status of the current quarter's or year's operations or expected results. Each quarterly quiet period will commence fourteen days (14 days) prior to the anticipated earnings release date for the applicable quarter and will end at the time of issuance of the applicable quarterly and annual results news release.

During the quiet period, the Company may nevertheless conduct discussions, initiate or participate in meetings, investor conferences and telephone conversations relating to non-earnings information and unsolicited inquiries concerning factual matters, with analysts, the media or investors provided it concerns publicly available or non-Material Information. Should inquiries be made concerning expected results, the Company will clearly state to participants that they will not discuss matters relating to earnings prospects. In addition, all subsidiaries and other controlled entities of the Company will comply with the foregoing guidelines during the Company's quiet period.

Guideline No. 12 – Responsibility for Electronic Communications

This Policy also applies to electronic communications. Accordingly, officers and personnel responsible for written and oral public disclosures shall also be responsible for electronic communications.

The Company's Disclosure and Compliance Committee is generally responsible for updating the Investor Relations section of the Company's website to ensure that it is accurate, complete and up to date.

Websites and Public Offerings

During a public offering of equity or debt securities by the Company, the Company's website should be reviewed to ensure that no material posted on the site contains information that is inconsistent with the relevant prospectus and that none of such material could be construed as publicly offering the securities in breach of applicable laws. Furthermore, the prospectus should not be posted on the Company's website without the prior approval of the Company's Disclosure and Compliance Committee after consultation with appropriate legal counsel.

Links to Other Websites

The Disclosure and Compliance Committee must approve all links from the Company's website to a third party website, including within the Company's group of companies. Any such links will include a notice that advises the reader that he or she is leaving the Company's website and that the Company is not responsible for the contents of the other site. Links to other websites should be checked regularly to ensure they are valid.

SEDAR Documents

The principal continuous disclosure documents filed on SEDAR by the Company shall be concurrently posted on the Company's website.

Adequate Disclosure

Although the Company views electronic communications as an extension of its formal disclosure record, it recognizes that disclosure on its website does not constitute adequate disclosure of undisclosed Material Information. Any disclosure of previously undisclosed Material Information on a website will be coordinated with a news release.

Electronic Inquiries

The Company's Disclosure and Compliance Committee shall be responsible for responses to electronic inquiries from the media, the general public and the investment community. Only publicly disclosed information or non-Material Information shall be utilized in responding to electronic inquiries.

In order to ensure that no undisclosed Material Information is inadvertently disclosed, employees of the Company, its subsidiaries and other controlled entities are prohibited from participating in Internet chat rooms or newsgroup discussions on matters pertaining to activities of the Company, its subsidiaries and other controlled entities, or the Company's securities, even if it is to correct rumors or defend the Company its subsidiaries and other controlled entities.
